

- (4) Raymond Prince M.S., Curse, Invocation and Mental Health among the Yoruba, Canadian Psychiatric Association Journal Vol.5 No.2, April 1960.
- (5) G. E. Coghill, Anatomy and the Problem of Behaviour, New York & London 1964.
-

*I shall shed tears
so I say now*

*I shall shed tears
hanging on the necks of my long-lost loved ones* weep for my childhood pain search for its happiness howl while the unsevered cord strangles all humanity pick my way on tenterhooks through the debris that is structures

I shall weep, laugh, dance with joy as I have painstakingly learnt to do *so I say now

so I say now*

yet each time I confront you oh my maker

I become what you made me a man, alas, a man joyless, leaden-footed unable to give you my sadness *which you so well deserve

which you so well deserve*

Martin Sivad