

GET TOGETHER FOR HUMAN UNITY

A remarkable event is being held in Britain for the first time in July - the 10th International Human Conference. Initiated in 1974, these events have been sponsored each year since by a different group of people in a different part of the world - in Mexico, Austria, Spain, India, the United States, Canada and Brazil.

About 1300 people are expected to gather at Warwick University from 27th to 30th July. HUC '83, as it is called for short, will they claim "provide a meeting point beyond beliefs, concepts, trainings and mind sets" and is open to all.

Many distinguished speakers have already signed up, and all of them will be there as full participants for the three days of which is hoped will be an intensely creative time together in an atmosphere of trust, support and unity.

During the course of the three days there will be numerous work-shops and discussion groups covering many topics including drama, music, art and dance as expressions of inner reality.

There is an adventure underway for mankind, or for those ready to try something new. There is an emerging awareness in people that there is a new order coming into being, and we have this opportunity to be aligned with it.

We are moving into a different area and people really know it at a very meaningful level, even though it is difficult to verbalise and articulate. That's what H.U.C. is. If you need to be there, you'll know it.

Mari Kuttna

I was shocked to hear of the death of Mari Kuttna on March 27th at the age of 49. Mari had been one of the very small group who helped to plan and bring out Self & Society in 1973, and she was my first assistant editor. She had already had several years in the growth movement and her main interest and specialization was as a writer on films. She wrote for Sight & Sound and Montage, and was the regular film critic for The Lady. Mari had a lively mind and a warm understanding. She was open to ideas, and to people. She will be missed.
