Dear S&S

Request for contributions to a critique of CBT

AGAINST AND FOR CBT: COGNITIVE BEHAVIOUR THERAPY UNDER CRITICAL SCRUTINY is a critical anthology on CBT currently in preparation. The book will be published in early 2007, so writing deadlines are tight. Pieces will be between 2,500 and 4,000 words, and I would ideally need final agreed contributions by 30th December 2006. I look forward to hearing from anyone who might like to contribute to this exciting and politically important project. Offers to, and further details from:

(Dr) Richard House, Senior Lecturer in Psychotherapy and Counselling, Research Centre for Therapeutic Education, Roehampton University, Whitelands College, London SW15 4JD.

Petruska Clarkson

Petruska Clarkson died on the evening of Sunday, 21st May, 2006.

Petruska chose to leave this world, materially, with little more than when she entered it. Yet, for many, she was a huge and wonderful inspiration, teacher, colleague and friend. And to her professions and the world she was, and will forever remain, a prolific, steadfast, devoted and eminent contributor and participant.

John Nuttall and Rita Cremona.

We received this message on the eve of going to press. Petruska was a supporter of S&S and a member of the editorial board for many years. We welcome memories of her for the next issue, and hope to publish an obituary.
