

Litany (for Alan Watts)

Cloud hidden

the Real

hides behind

the sun

over dawn's landscape

where the stretched canvas

of light

is repainted

each day

Another and another stroke brighter and brighter!

toward noon

when the sun

eats all our shadows

and we are

our selves

Lawrence Ferlinghetti